The IICS: Who we are

Situated in Mary Immaculate College, Limerick, the IICS is a cross-faculty, interdisciplinary, research-oriented community of scholars engaged in the academic study of Catholicism.

Our Mission

The IICS is an interdisciplinary research centre inspired by and in critical dialogue with Catholic culture and thought. We explore the long and rich Catholic tradition in a spirit of scholarly rigour and academic freedom. We engage with the intellectual contribution of Catholicism to philosophical, theological, educational and social debates, past and present, as well as the expression and embodiment of a Catholic sensibility in fine arts, literature, architecture and music. We engage with contemporary global realities and are dedicated to research and dialogue in the following key areas:

- Social & environmental justice
- Catholic Theology
- The Arts & Culture
- Catholic Education

IICS Doctoral Award

IICS Doctoral Award Recipient:
Dr Teresa O' Donnell

Teresa O'Donnell has worked as a freelance pedal and Irish harpist throughout Ireland, Europe, North America, Africa and Asia. She began her harp studies with the late Sr. Eugene McCabe at Mount Sackville School, Dublin, later studied with the renowned French harpist, Sebastien Lipman, and attended masterclasses with Professor Witsenberg and Han Ann Liu. Teresa graduated from Trinity College Dublin with an honours Degree in Music and Gaelige and followed this with a Masters in Performance and Musicology. She lectured in music at St. Patrick's College, DCU and was awarded a Foras Feasa fellowship to research a PhD on 'The Music Association of Ireland: A Cultural and Social History' (2012). Teresa's research has been published in a number of journals including, the Journal of the Society for Musicology in Ireland, the Journal of Music Research Online and the American Harp Journal. She recently co-authored with her sister, Mary Louise O'Donnell, Sisters of the Revolutionaries: Margaret and Mary Brigid Pearse (Merrion Press 2017). They have also just completed the recording of an album of music for the Irish harp by Brian Boydell, entitled, Heavenly Harps, Heavenly Cloths.

A diverse musician, she has performed with the Irish Chamber Orchestra and has appeared on stage with Andrea Bocelli, Sinead O' Connor, The Chieftains, The Celtic Tenors, Tommy Fleming and Katherine Jenkins. Teresa has appeared on several TV networks including, RTÉ, TG4, BBC, CNN and NHK (Japan). She was a director of Cruit Éireann Harp Ireland, the recently established national umbrella organisation for the harp in Ireland for a number of years. Teresa is a musician in residence with Fingal County Council since 2019. She is no stranger to Limerick having resided at Mary Immaculate College for summer courses of the National Youth Orchestra for numerous years and also enjoyed performing at Bunratty Castle.

To mark the 1500th anniversary of the birth of St. Colmille / St. Columba, Fingal Arts Office, through its Artists' Support Scheme have funded a new composition, Sord Cholmcille: A Suite for Irish harp, soprano and reciteur by Janet Harbison. The work was performed at Swords Castle by Mary Louise O'Donnell (soprano), Teresa O'Donnell (Irish harp) and Bryan Murray (reciteur) and recorded by Jon Henderson (Red Wall Studios).

2nd Annual Reverend Professor Michael A Hayes Memorial Lecture

Austen Ivereigh

‘The Spirit and the People: The sources of Pope Francis’s dream of a synodal Church’

December 8th, 2021
7.00-8.20 pm GMT +1

To be held virtually via Microsoft Teams

Austen Ivereigh is a UK-based Roman Catholic journalist, author, commentator and biographer of Pope Francis. The lecture will be held in memory of IICS founder and former MIC president, Reverend Professor Michael Hayes. The date of the lecture marks the foundation day of the college, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception. Please contact carleigh.garcia@mic.ul.ie for the MT link to access the lecture. Pictured above: Pope Francis and Austen Ivereigh.

Ivereigh is former deputy editor of The Tablet, a Catholic international weekly review, and previously served as the public affairs director for former Archbishop of Westminster Cardinal Cormac Murphy-O'Connor. He is the author of the 2014 biography The Great Reformer: Francis and the Making of a Radical Pope (Henry Holt and Co.). His latest book, Wounded Shepherd: Pope Francis and His Struggle to Convert the Catholic Church (Henry Holt and Co.), was released in November 2019 and examines Pope Francis' attempt to steer the Church away from power and create a more welcoming institution.

Ivereigh is also the founder of Catholic Voices, a United Kingdom-based communications organization that trains laypeople to promote Catholic viewpoints in the media. He holds a PhD from Oxford University.

Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Catholicism in Ireland and Beyond Inaugural Conference 2021

In July of 2021, the IICS hosted an online, international, interdisciplinary conference on topics related to Catholicism. There were more than 75 papers contributed to the conference, on panels ranging from literature, education, the future of Catholicism, history, heritage, to philosophy. We were fortunate to have ten excellent keynote speakers, including Mark Patrick Hederman OSB, Professor Marie Parker-Jenkins, Professor Richard Kearney, Professor John Sullivan, Professor Tom Inglis, Rita Ann Higgins, Dr Liam Chambers, Dr Noirin Ni Riain, Professor Mare Hight. Presenters came from around the globe, including Africa, Australia, Europe, India, UK, USA, and Ireland. Many of the presentations were recorded and available to view on our YouTube channel. Dr Ian Hickey and Dr Patricia Kieran are guest editing an edition of The Furrow based on six papers from the conference.

Carleigh Garcia & The Dialogue Perspectives Programme

After joining the programme in 2020, IICS Research Assistant and MIC PhD student Carleigh Garcia continues to be part of Dialogue Perspectives. DP is funded by the German Federal Foreign Office and Leo Baeck Foundation. Through two annual seminars and an international conference, it supports seventy participants from around the EU to come together for interreligious and worldview dialogue. She is currently the only participant living in Ireland. Garcia has published a blog for DP on the topic of the Catholic Church's 2021 response to the blessing of same-sex marriage and is frequently featured on their podcast. You can read Garcia's blog on the DP website: <https://www.dialogueperspectives.org/>. During the 2021 Autumn Seminar in Potsdam, Germany, 'Towards a pluralistic European culture of remembrance: Navigating the Narratives, Memories and Histories that shape European communities', Garcia networked with other members of the programme in hopes to begin new research in connection to her own PhD thesis, shame within Irish literature, by looking at missing queer narratives in the German and Irish contexts.
